

FORMER LOCAL PHYSICIAN DIES

Dr. J. E. Welliver, Age 64, Expires
After Lingering Illness of Pneumonia, at Dayton, O.

DR. J. C. SEXTON HEARS NEWS

Expresses Sympathy For Family and Friends, and Pays Tribute to His Traits.

Dr. J. C. Sexton received word today of the death of Dr. J. E. Welliver of Dayton, Ohio, a former resident and physician of Rushville. He died after a lingering illness with pneumonia.

He was well known here as a physician and highly esteemed as a gentleman, and Dr. Sexton takes this opportunity to publicly express his sympathy for the family and for friends of him who did his work well, and kindly, for all those whom he met, and as a citizen he was worthy the respect of the entire community.

The Dayton Journal says his death came at a time when he apparently was improving, and following a day when he had seemed brighter than at any time in two or three weeks. The Journal continues:

Dr. James Everson Welliver was born on a farm near Bunker Hill, O., August 8, 1851. He attended the country schools of the neighborhood and received the usual early education of the boys of that day.

He completed the common school studies and received a teacher's certificate. He followed the profession of teaching for several years, saving money with which he paid his tuition at Mt. Union college at Alliance, O.

Soon after his graduation there he entered the Pulfe Medical college at Cincinnati, O., from which he received his degree January 17, 1877.

Dr. Welliver first located at Rushville, Ind. After one year's practice there he was named as assistant superintendent and physician at the Indiana Boys' Reform school at Plainfield. Here he remained for four years, when he resigned and returned to the regular practice of his profession at Rushville.

His residence in Rushville this time lasted eight years. In November, 1890, he came to Dayton, where he at once took leading place in his profession that he had since held.

May 13, 1880, Dr. Welliver was married to Miss Anne K. Kimmell, of Somerset, Pa., and a daughter of Charles A. and Harriet Patton Kimmell.

They were the parents of four children. One daughter, Elizabeth, died 14 years ago. Two sons, Dr. Rupert K. Welliver, of Dayton, and James Everson Welliver, Jr., of Jacksonville, Fla.; one daughter, Harriet Welliver Ware, of Dayton, with Mrs. Welliver, survive.

Five sisters are also living, they being Mrs. Emma Garner, Mrs. Cynthia Clark and Mrs. Minerva Pearson, of College Corner, O., and Mrs. Susan Garner and Mrs. Luckie Van Ness, of Hamilton, O. He also leaves two nephews, Marc and Alfred Welliver.

He was the prime mover and real organizer of the Dayton Homeopathic Medical society, one of the most influential of the medical organizations of the city.

In January, 1910, he was named as president of the city board of health, a position he held at the time of his death.

Dr. Welliver was one of the prominent Masons of Dayton, being a member of Dayton consistory of the Scottish Rite. He was also a member of Masonic Blue Lodge

HAD COMPASSION ON BOYS

Lewisville Marshal Feeds Boys And Gives Them Carfare.

Herschel and Stanley Morrow, age twelve and fourteen years, sons of John Morrow of Dayton, Ohio, who started to tramp to Flora, Ind., experienced no difficulty until they reached Lewisville. There they were caught by the town marshal, who, after hearing their pitiful story, had compassion on them, fed them and gave them money to go to Indianapolis.

They will be sent on to their aunt Mrs. Liddie Borman, who, they say, is wealthy, and had promised to care for them if they needed help. The two boys suffered from the cold and hunger.

GARDNER DRAIN CASE POSTPONED

Was Scheduled to Take up Four Days in Court This Week Before Wallace Morgan.

ONE OF PLAINTIFFS ILL

The Robert M. Gardner, et al., drain case which was to have been heard in the circuit court, starting this morning, was postponed on a motion by the attorneys for the plaintiff because of the illness of John E. Alexander. The case was to have been heard by Wallace Morgan, who was appointed special judge by Judge Megee. Four days were to have been given to the case and the postponement again throws the regular court business out of line.

The case is the result of a remonstrance against the report of the viewers for the proposed drain made the assessments against the property owners and Robert Gardner and others objected to the assessments. The commissioners refused to grant the remonstrance and the case was taken to the circuit court. It has been pending for almost two years.

The case of Frank Hall against Elva Aldridge, et al., to foreclose a mortgage and on a note was dismissed and the costs paid. The plaintiff demanded $650.

TO OBSERVE PASSION WEEK

St. Paul M. E. Church Will Hold Services Each Night.

Passion week will be observed this week at the St. Paul M. E. church with services each evening at seven-thirty o'clock, and the pastor, the Rev. W. H. Wylie, will preach on some topic relating to the past week of the life of Christ. He announced the following topic: Tonight, "The Fate of the Fruitless"; Tuesday, "The Loss That is Gain"; Wednesday, "The Day of Silence"; Thursday, "Christ Our Passover." Friday night there will be no sermon and the sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered. Special music for each night is planned.

The P. O. S. of A. lodge will have work in the first degree tonight.

Tuesday will be the regular meeting for the L. A. of the A. O. H.

It was E. J. Parrish of Plum Creek and not J. A. Parrish who moved to Raleigh last week. The names were confused. The latter will continue to reside on the Newark farm a short distance northeast of the city.

METHOD LIKE SWINDLE HERE

Real Estate Dealers Note Similarity
in Operations of John H. Kline
at Kalamazoo, Mich.

WITH MAN HERE 10 YEARS AGO

Who Used Real Estate "Gag"
to Rob Elisha King Out of $4,000.

Local bankers and real estate dealers who have received circulars from Ralph Chapman, sheriff at Kalamazoo, Michigan, describing the plan used by John H. Kline, with numerous aliases, in obtaining money under false pretenses, are reminded of the similarity of the scheme to that used in swindling Elisha King out of three or four thousand dollars in this county ten years ago.

The operation of the man at Kalamazoo were identically the same as those used by the stranger who swindled the Rush county man. The man was never caught, and Mr. King went to his grave a few years ago, with the swindle still a mystery.

Kline is wanted at Kalamazoo for forgery and obtaining money under false pretenses January 28, 1913. The authorities there have since learned that Kline used the same swindle in many places. He has used the following aliases:

John L. Butler, John Hoover, H. O. Fisher, John H. Snyder, Chas. Newman, William Langer, George Fesler, J. S. Weaver, John O'Brien, John Martin.

This man's description is as follows, using the name Philip H. Galvich:

35 years old, about 5 feet 10 inches, about 190 pounds, brownish eyes, complexion medium, slightly hollow chested, giving him the appearance of being round shouldered; dark hair streaked with gray, also sometimes wears a mustache streaked with gray. One burn scar on fore arm. Rather smooth talker; is very unassuming in his way; has a striking appearance of a well to do farmer.

This is his method of working. A short time after arriving in that county he called upon a banker in a small town about twelve miles from Kalamazoo knowing that very likely there would be a notary public there, and he asked him if he knew where he could purchase a good farm.

He was told of a good farm for ten thousand dollars, and that being about what he wanted went to see same. The next day he made arrangements to meet both parties, and while in conversation he asked the banker if he was a notary public saying that he wanted to send the power of attorney to a friend. After signing, his signature being sworn, he asked the farmer to sign as a witness, thereby obtaining the signature of the man who owned the farm, and the signature of the notary public, also a copy of the seal.

He then obtained the farmer's deed to his property or farm saying that he wanted to look over the abstract.

Kline then went to Kalamazoo and called at a real estate office saying that he had purchased a farm for ten thousand dollars and that he wanted to borrow three thousand dollars, and give a mortgage on the farm for that amount, as he would need that amount for the improvements he wished to make.

The real estate man made arrangements with one of his clients that he had in mind. After meeting this party Kline took him out to see the farm, and being so impressed with it he decided to let him have thirty-

FARMERS WANT PAPER EACH DAY

Semi-Weekly Republican Will be Discontinued and Rural Subscriber Will Get Daily.

NEW LAW IS ONE OF REASONS

Dropping of Old Edition Recalls Interesting Early History of The Republican.

The Semi-Weekly Republican, by the time it will have rounded out its twelfth years will be discontinued to make way for progress. The last issue will be printed some time next month, definite announcement of which will be made later. Semi-weekly subscribers will be served with the Daily Republican until their time expires.

The discontinuance of the semi-weekly is made possible by the signature of the governor being affixed to the Moellering House bill No. 68 late Saturday. The bill provides that "in all cases, in township or county business, the law provides for the publication of legal notices in a weekly newspaper, it shall be lawful hereafter to make such publication in either a daily or weekly newspaper." The act repeals all laws or parts of laws in conflict with it, and contains an emergency clause which made it effective the minute the Governor signed it.

The dropping of the semi-weekly, in addition to the reason already mentioned, is the result of two things—the increasing demand among Rush county farmers for the news every day instead of twice a week, and the improved facilities for the distribution of newspapers.

For several years the Republican's rural subscribers have been shifting from the Semi-Weekly Republican to the Daily Republican, and the daily list has been growing accordingly. The change has been going on until the continuance of the publication of the twice-a-week newspaper is no longer warranted.

The Republican really had its beginning when P. A. Hackleman and O. C. Hackleman established the Rushville Whig April 25, 1840, and the former became its editor. It was this newspaper, that after many changes in ownership and editorial policy, that became the Republican.

The twenty-fifth of next month will see the seventy-third anniversary of the paper that finally evolved into the Republican. It was only a weekly publication until 1891, when two issues a week were published.

The Hacklemans sold the paper to R. E. Brown in 1844 and he continued it under the name of the Whig. Two years later Granville Cowing, now residing in Muncie, and Norvell W. Cox, purchased the Whig and changed the name to the True Republican. Gen. P. A. Hackleman remained as editor several years.

Mr. Cowing remained with the paper for ten years and subsequent owners were: T. Wallace & Co., Wallace & Kemper, Cowing & Kemper, Shadlinger, Cox & Cowing, Andrew Hall, L. J. Cox, Conde & Shumm, William Shumm, Drebert & Harrison and Frank T. Drebert. During this time the late George Clark was editor for a short period.

Mr. Drebert sold the paper to Charles Stivers in 1876, and a year later John F. Moses bought him out. He sold to U. D. Cole in 1881, but resumed editorial work two years later. The next year—1884—he gained controlling interest and edited the Republican until April 1, 1903, when J. Feudner, who had held an interest since 1884, became sole owner.

Mr. Feudner began to make rapid Finly Gray Says Postoffice Appointments in Sixth District Will be Settled Soon.

CONGRESSMAN AT HAGERSTOWN

Congressman Gray, of Connersville, was here Friday for a couple of hours. He had been to Hagerstown, looking over the postoffice situation, the term of the present incumbent having expired several months ago and the Senate having failed to confirm the appointment of Knute Porter, who was named by Mr. Taft says the Newcastle Times. Mr. Gray has more than his share of such cases, there being five in the district. The other four are Shirley, Greenfield, Rushville and Brookville, and Democratic successors will be selected and their appointments made within the next thirty days.

Mr. Gray's health is much improved from a month ago and he thinks he will fully recover his strength as soon as spring comes. It is his intention to remain at home for a week more before returning to Washington to attend the special session of congress. He is of the opinion that the special session will make a good tariff bill and do it promptly. To insure prompt action, he says there is some talk that no other committee will be named at the beginning of the session than the Ways and Means, which has charge of the tariff bill and is now at work on the revision. By having only the one committee there can be no other bills acted on until the tariff revision is out of the way.

CHILD WAS BADLY BURNED

Pulled Bucket of Boiling Water Off Stove.

The two-years-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lory Hankins, living on the Herman Miller farm near Richland, was severely burned yesterday about the arms, chest and waist when she pulled a bucket of boiling water off the stove. The little girl in some manner reached the bucket and the contents were dashed over the body. The child suffered great pain and for a time it was thought the burns would prove fatal but she was improved today and will probably recover.

The entertainment which was to have been given by Mrs. Miller at the colored Masonic hall last Wednesday night will be given this Wednesday. Supper will be served at six o'clock in the colored Odd Fellows hall.

Fraudulent Check Bill Signed by Governor Makes Heavy Penalty
For Overdrawing Account.

IT HAS EMERGENCY CLAUSE

Making, Drawing, Uttering or Delivery of Check Held Evidence of Intent to Defraud.

Among the bills signed by the Governor was one introduced by Senator Harlan and indorsed by the commercial organizations of Indiana. It says "whoever, with intent to defraud by obtaining money, merchandise, property, credit, or thing of value, although no express representation is made in reference thereto, or who, in the payment of any obligation, shall make, draw, utter or deliver any check, draft or order for the payment of money upon any bank, depository, person, firm or corporation, knowing at the time of such making, drawing, uttering or delivering that the maker or drawer has not sufficient funds in or credit with such bank, depository, person, firm or corporation for the payment of such check, draft or order in full upon its presentation, shall, upon conviction, be fined not less than $100 nor more than $5,000, to which may be added imprisonment in the state prison for not less than one year nor more than five years. The making, drawing, uttering or delivering of such check or draft or order as aforesaid shall be prima facie evidence of intent to defraud. The word "credit" as used herein shall be construed to mean an arrangement or understanding with the bank, depository, person, firm or corporation for the payment of such check, draft or order.

"This act shall not be construed as repealing, but shall be considered as supplementary to all law now in force on the subject of public offenses.

* * * * * CAST OFF THE OLD PUT ON THE NEW * * * * *

Only a few days more to Easter Sunday. Don't put off buying your Easter suit a moment longer.

Have you ever stopped to think how the custom of wearing new things at Easter came about?

Some thought of it may be found in the Resurrection, the world reborn, casting aside its old clothes and taking on new apparel and new ideals. It is the close of winter and Mother Earth dons a new suit of green in honor of the Springtime.

So, in order to be as well dressed as Mother Earth, we must have new hats, new suits, new shoes, new gloves and new things of all kinds. They must be just right in texture, in cut, in color and contrast. They must be of the right quality and right price.

The merchants of Rushville have been preparing for Easter and Springtime ever since the first snowfall. They are well prepared. Read their advertisements in THE DAILY REPUBLICAN closely and constantly every day and keep well informed regarding all the new things. Then you will be able to purchase your Springtime apparel at the right store and at the right price.

THE PRESIDENT URGES HARMONY

Majority in Senate Too Close to Take Chances.

PARTY CONSIDERATIONS FIRST

Old Democratic Wheel Horses in the Upper House Lose Some of the Fear and Trembling That Overcame Them When It Was Given Out That the Seniority Rule Was to Be Abrogated by Younger Element.

Washington, March 17.—In the reorganization of the senate the younger element of that body has triumphed, and while most of the old wheel horses took the places at the heads of the committees to which they were entitled under the rule of seniority, they are practically powerless.

Take the finance committee, for example. Senator Cummins managed to retain his place at the head of the committee after a bitter fight, but the new Democratic membership of the committee is overwhelmingly radical or progressive.

Probably next to the tariff the subject that will receive first consideration among legislative policies is the currency and banking law. The currency and banking committee is a new departure for the senate. There was no rule for the seniority to hamper the Democratic steering committee in the make-up of that committee, so they picked a radical for chairman, Senator Owen of Oklahoma. Mr. Owen was at the head of the Democratic league, so-called, and stood for the initiative and referendum and the recall.

Undoubtedly the Democrats in the senate at the last moment decided that considerations of party harmony warranted them in allowing most of the older Democratic senators to claim their chairmanships. It is whispered that President Wilson counselled this course in view of the narrow Democratic margin in the senate. Beginning with the election of Senator Kern over Senator Martin for caucus leader, the Democrats have saved the substance of a progressive organization in the senate, even if they have seemed to yield the shadow. When the resolutions that provide for vacating the ancient rule of seniority by declaring for the election of chairman of committees by the majority of the committee, and that take from the control of the chairman of the committee the appointment of conferees and subcommittees and the manner of calling meetings come up for action in the party caucus they undoubtedly will be adopted.

The extra session of the senate called by President Taft just before he went out of office to confirm nominations is expected to come to a close this week. Senators have lingered here mainly to effect the reorganization of the senate and confirm nominations of immediate importance. It is expected the president will dispose of the pressing appointments before the end of the week. Confirmations of unobjectionable nominations probably will be brought about also in a few days. When the senate adjourns it will be until the extra session of congress on April 7.

DEATH NOT NEAR, HE SAYS

Charles W. Morse Belies the Predictions of His Physician.

New York, March 17.—Charles W. Morse, who after his release from prison at Atlanta, was allotted a year of life by Dr. Charles Fowler, on whose recommendation the financier was pardoned by President Taft, arrived Sunday on the liner Kaiserin Auguste Victoria, stepping down the gangplank lightly and looking almost as debonair as in the days when he was a power in Wall street. His eyes were bright and his face free from symptoms of illness. As in the past, he greeted the reporters smilingly.

"The doctors tell me," he said in reply to a question, "that I have a good many years ahead of me if I take good care of myself."

Found Guilty of Manslaughter.

Hillsboro, N. C., March 17.—Three students of the University of North Carolina were found guilty of manslaughter in connection with the death of a fellow student, William Rand, while the latter was being hazed last September. They were each sentenced to four months in jail.

Views It With More Favor.

Washington, March 17.—National Chairman William F. McCombs is viewing with more favor President Wilson's offer of the ambassadorship to France, and there is some likelihood now that he will accept.

Niagara Claims Another Victim.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., March 17.—A Polish woman named Josephine Kihitich, of Buffalo, accidentally slipped and fell into the river from the Luna island shore and was carried over the falls.

London, March 17.—Princess Mary, daughter of King George and Queen Mary, was confirmed Sunday in the private chapel at Buckingham palace. The king and queen, queen mother, the Prince of Wales and other royal personages were present.

RICHARD OLNEY

Cleveland's Secretary of State
Declines the Post at St. James.

Washington, March 17.—President Wilson has received a letter from Richard Olney of Massachusetts, former secretary of state under President Cleveland, declining for "family reasons" the offer of the post of United States ambassador to Great Britain.

SUFFRAGETTES FALL INTO HANDS OF MOB

Resentful Crowd Breaks Up Hyde Park Meeting.

London, March 17.—In vain, Sunday, Mrs. Flora Drummond ("the general") and several militant companions tried to make themselves heard at a meeting in Hyde park, above the din raised by a resentful crowd. When Mrs. Drummond stood up to speak the crowd broke out in all sorts of noises and interruptions. Bells were rung, horns blown and there was whistling, jeering and singing. Other women who followed Mrs. Drummond also were howled down.

The crowd finally tore up the turf and pelted the women with it until they had to leave under the protection of a strong force of mounted and foot police. The hostility to the women continued outside the park and the traffic was blocked for some time.

As the carriage containing the women was leaving the park a crowd tried to turn it over and this resulted in a general fight with the police. Mrs. Drummond, on alighting, was immediately rushed by the mob and the police had to fight to protect her. They surrounded "the general," and hurriedly conducted her across the street to the tube station, into which the crowd surged, yelling "Take her to the Serpentine."

Every woman who was seen to be wearing the suffragette colors was hustled and pelted with turf. One collapsed on the sidewalk at the marble arch. The police forced their way through the mob and rescued her just as it seemed as if she would be stripped of her clothes, which already had been torn.

Several women had their clothes and other finery rent, and it was only when the police had rescued all of them that the crowd dispersed.

CYCLONE'S DEADLY EFFECT

Wide Swath Swept Clean in a Mississippi Community.

Mobile, Ala., March 17.—News received here from Guntown, Miss., is to the effect that the wind and rain storms had done $100,000 damage. East of Guntown for a distance of about ten miles there is scarcely a building or tree left standing over territory two miles wide. Fourteen people are reported killed and more than 100 injured. A number of the injured will die. At least 1,000 people are homeless and without food or clothing, as everything has been swept away. There is much suffering, for there are several families in which every member is injured, and there is no care for them.

Killed Alleged Home Wrecker.

Nashville, Tenn., March 17.—"You have ruined my home and broken my heart," exclaimed Mrs. W. S. Dodson, as she drew a pistol from her muff and shot Charles Cobb to death. Mrs. Dodson had entered the barber shop where Cobb was employed, and walking up to his chair, began shooting. He died five minutes after reaching a hospital. Mrs. Dodson is the wife of a Gallatin (Tenn.) physician. Cobb formerly worked at Gallatin.

Trolley Car Kills Mother and Child.

Alexandria, Ind., March 17.—Mrs. Carl Schmitz, twenty-four years old, and her two-year-old son were instantly killed under the wheels of a traction car which was turning around at the transfer station. The mother attempted to cross the track in front of the backing car to rescue the child.

PLAN TWO MORE ARCTIC VENTURES

American Museum to Send Expedition.

CROCKER LAND PARTY READY

Word Is Received From Lang Expedition, Returning From Africa With 30,000 Specimens, Including White Rhinoceros—Another Party Ready to Explore South American Seas.

Announcement was made by President Henry Fairfield Osborn of the American Museum of Natural History, at the annual meeting of the board of trustees recently in New York, of important plans for exploration in the arctic regions, which will be visited by two expeditions this year.

The second Stefansson expedition, now being organized, will start for the Arctic seas in July. It will be under the leadership of Vilhjalmur Stefansson, who discovered the race of blond Eskimos near Coronation gulf. President Osborn announced in his annual report that the exploration party was being organized to extend over three years and that Mrs. Morris K. Jesup has contributed $25,000 to the expedition fund to aid in the work of research.

The National Geographic society is also co-operating with the American museum in organizing the second Stefansson arctic expedition and has contributed a fund of $22,500.

Crocker Land Expedition.

The Crocker Land expedition, which was postponed, owing to the death of George Borup, has been reorganized and will leave early in July to explore the land northwest of Grant Land, observed by Peary in 1909.

This expedition will be conducted by Donald B. MacMillan, who was to be a co-leader of the party, with Mr. Borup.

After exploring Crocker Land it is proposed to divide the party, one section going to Cape Thomas Hubbard for exploration north of the Parry islands and to connect, if possible, with the third Stefansson expedition.

The museum has received news of the Lang expedition, which is returning from Africa with more than 30,000 specimens from the Kongo region, including the white rhinoceros, the giant eland and the rare okapi. A duplicate collection has also been obtained from the Kongo museum of Tervueren, near Brussels.

Many Valuable Trophies.

The third African expedition, under the leadership of William S. Rainsford, the former rector of a New York church, has many valuable trophies of big game, which will be mounted in groups at the museum.

Another expedition has been organized by Dr. Leonard Sanford of New Haven, which has been financed by Frederick Brewster, to explore South American seas in quest of oceanic birds.

The income from the Jesup fund, which now amounts to about $50,000, has been devoted to the purchase of specimens and to the support of various expeditions in the field.

The gem and mineral collections have been increased by gifts from J. Pierpont Morgan, including fine specimens of Brazilian aquamarine, rubellite, tourmaline and other gems.

From Mrs. E. H. Harriman the museum has received a collection of Alaskan ethnological specimens. A collection of calcite crystals is a gift from Grant B. Schley.

Museum Needs $1,000,000.

President Osborn stated that the growth of the permanent endowment has not kept pace with the development of the great collections acquired by the museum.

While the museum receives the income from an endowment fund of $2,300,000, an additional fund of $1,000,000 is needed for current expenses.

The museum is about to adopt a new pension plan, whereby provision will be made for the employees of the institution. It is a departure in this country and the first instance known of a museum originating a pension system for the benefit of its employees.

DOG'S BRAIN IN MAN'S SKULL.

Surgeons Perform Unique Operation as Last Resort For Patient.

The brain of a dog was transferred to a man's skull at the Ann Arbor (Mich.) University hospital recently. W. A. Smith of Kalamazoo had been suffering from abscess on the brain, and in a last effort to save his life this remarkable operation was performed.

Opening his skull, the surgeons removed the diseased part of his brain and in its place substituted the brain of a dog.

Smith rested comfortably later, and the surgeons say he has a good chance to recover.

Baby's Head No Cabbage.

Ten dollars' damages was awarded in the Bayonne (N. J.) district court recently to Mrs. Otto Weckesser of 349 Avenue E for injuries inflicted on her eighteen-months-old son John by a rooster owned by a neighbor. Mrs. Weckesser said the rooster knocked the child down and pecked a hole in his head.

You Can Take Defective Material and Build a Buggy

Then you can take putty and paint and by properly applying these two articles change the appearance of this defective vehicle so it will deceive even the shrewdest of vehicle buyers. We have found out by experience that there is only one test that never fails to expose defective material and unskilled workmanship. Manufacturers have told us that their vehicles were built of a certain kind of material and by men who understood how to build buggies and in the wind-up we found they had misrepresented the matter to us. We are going to protect the interests of our customers and sell them exactly what we tell them we are selling them, and have adopted the plan illustrated below to determine for ourselves what each vehicle we sell is made of. A vehicle that will stand a test of this kind must be built of material that has no flaws and by men who have had experience enough to know where to re-enforce each part of the vehicle in order to give strength and make it wear.

It is your duty to find out what is under the paint of every vehicle you buy and if you buy it of us you can certainly have that privilege. We want you to come to our opening on MARCH 14th and 15th, and let us show you buggies that are built to give road service by men who know how to build them.

YOU ARE LOOKING OLDER THAN WHEN I SAW YOU LAST

Have You Ever Had This
Said of You Because of Grey Hairs

It is most embarrassing to have a friend remark that you are "looking older". Grey hairs are not becoming, people may tell you so, but they are saying to themselves: "What a pity she is not old. And she used to have such beautiful hair." There is one quick, absolutely sure, easy way of getting rid of grey or faded hair—simply use Hay's Hair Health.

Benefit by the experience of thousands of others, who are using Hay's Hair Health. It brings back the fine, glossy, brilliant color of your hair—restores the grey hairs to their natural color immediately, and keeps the scalp free from dandruff. People voluntarily recommend Hay's Hair Health. It is not unusual for them to say: "I want to tell others about it. It's perfectly splendid." Try it yourself, today. You'll be surprised how quickly the grey hairs disappear; how beautifully dark and glossy your hair will remain after using it. Druggists sell more Hay's Hair Health than all others combined because their customers prefer it and they know that it can be guaranteed satisfactory.

MINORITY IN HOUSE IS BADLY DIVIDED

Which Gives Majority Cause
for Rejoicing.

Washington, March 17.—Republican opposition to the Democrats in the new house, the present indications are, will be split into three organizations. This will enable the Democrats to put through their tariff program and run things generally pretty much as they please. At least twenty Bull Mooseers intend to herd by themselves. Approximately twenty Progressives will refuse to attend the regular Republican caucuses. The Bull Moose members intend to perfect an organization of their own. While the Progressives, so-called, may not have an organization of their own, the chances are that only on occasion will they vote with the regulars. The Democrats are tickled over the chaotic state of affairs on the Republican side of the chamber.

According to recent advices, President Wilson will fix April 7 for convening congress in special session. Bull Moose and Progressive Republicans are getting ready for the organization of the house. Representative Hinebaugh, spokesman of the Bull Moose, already has discussed the subject with Representative Underwood, the Democratic leader. Mr. Hinebaugh wanted to know if the Bull Moose will be recognized as a separate party in the matter of committee assignments, and whether the Bull Moose will be accorded full rights as the minority, pointing out that in the last election the new party polled more votes than the Republicans. It is understood Leader Underwood told Mr. Hinebaugh that if the Bull Moose set up their own organization and selected a leader they would be recognized as a part of the minority and given fair treatment.

OTHER OFFICERS INVOLVED

Further Indictments Promised in Police Graft Cases.

New York, March 17.—Indictments for bribery against Inspector John J. Murtha and former Inspectors James Thompson and James E. Hussey, probably will be handed up to Justice Seabury in the supreme court tomorrow. It is reported that indictments against these three former Harlem inspectors were voted last week, following the testimony of ex-Policeman James Wrenn, who admitted before the grand jury that he had collected for these three inspectors between the years of 1907 and 1911. Thompson and Hussey were suspended following the confession of Walsh. Murtha was suspended after the tenor of Wrenn's accusations against him had reached police headquarters.

RALSTON VETOES "BLUE SKY" BILL

Governor Holds Measure to Be Invalid.

OTHER IMPORTANT ACTION

In Concluding His Consideration of the Bills Passed by the Legislature, Governor Ralston Puts the Mark of His Disapproval Upon Several Bills That Attracted Much Attention During Their Progress Up to Him.

Indianapolis, March 17.—Important features of Governor Ralston's final action Saturday night on the work of the general assembly were the veto of the "blue sky" bill and the signing of the trading stamp, the Jennings county seat removal, the county tubercular hospitals, the rural loan association, the Discovery day and the auto tax measures were important features of Governor Ralston's final action Saturday night on the work of the general assembly. The governor refused to receive the racing commission bill, thus killing it.

The bill providing for the nomination of county tickets on registration days was among those approved along with the bill substituting electrocution for hanging in Indiana.

Indiana voters will decide in 1914 at the general election on the question whether they desire to hold a convention for the making of a new state constitution. Under the bill which was approved Saturday night, a majority of all the votes cast for secretary of state in 1914 will be required to bring about the ordering of a constitutional convention, which would be held for 120 days, beginning in November, 1915. The result of the labors of the convention, under the bill, are to be submitted to the legislature of 1917 and by it submitted back to the people for ratification probably at the general election of 1918.

The township road bill, providing for the payment in cash of road tax above $20, was signed, along with the bill to provide for county and township superintendents of roads and for road maintenance. Another important bill signed was the bill to provide for a commission to investigate the problem of workmen's compensation and report with recommendations at the 1915 session. This was the compromise measure resulting from the fight to prevent the enactment of a workmen's compensation act agreed upon by a joint committee of labor men and manufacturers.

Five senate bills and thirteen house bills were "refused" under the rule which gives the governor the right to decline to accept bills passed the last two days of the session. Among the bills killed in this way were the racing commission bill and the Gary saloon license bill, which would have nullified in effect the saloon limitation clause of the Proctor law.

Indiana is to wait at least two years for a "blue sky" law, and a commission of three is to be named to prepare a new bill for 1915 because Governor Ralston vetoed the bill which sought to provide a means and a method of reaching and punishing the stock swindlers who peddle wildcat and fraudulent mining and other fake securities in Indiana. Governor Ralston declared in his veto message that the bill put too great a hardship upon legitimate Indiana business, and he expressed a doubt as to the constitutionality of the measure. In addition to his message the governor forwarded with his veto an opinion he had obtained from Attorney General Honan as to the effects of the bill if it were to be enacted into law. The attorney general declared that in his opinion the bill if enacted would prove to be void. He held that the bill was indefinite and that it left a wide and hazy zone between the granting of a license to sell stocks by the securities examiner of the state and the refusal to grant such a license.

HOLLOW HORN BEAR IS DEAD

Old Sioux Chief Succumbed to Inauguration Exposure.

Washington, March 17.—Hollow Horn Bear, big chief of the Sioux Indians on the Rosebud (S. D.) reservation, is dead here of pneumonia. For sixty-four years the big chief had defied death on the warpath, the plains the mountains and the forest, but the inclemency of March weather in Washington, where he came to attend President Wilson's inauguration, was too much for the old warrior. Hollow Horn died a devout Christian. The Rev. William H. Ketchum, director of the bureau of Catholic missions, gave him the last rites. His body will be laid to rest with those of his ancestors out west.

Yeggmen Blow Two Safes.

Bloomington, Ind., March 17.—Nitroglycerin was used to blow up two safes at Stinesville, fourteen miles north of this city. The postoffice safe was robbed of $200 in stamps and a safe and cash register in the Ray Dunn store were also cracked and robbed of a small amount of money. None of the residents of Stinesville heard the explosions. The Bedford bloodhounds were sent for, but failed to track the robbers.

WILSON HEDGED CONSPIRACY

Throws Washington Clubs
Into Panic by Declining
Membership.

It was not enough that Woodrow Wilson should get himself "in bad" with the haberdashers, real estate agents, butchers, bakers and candlestickmakers of Washington by upsetting the plans for an inaugural ball, out of which they expected, as usual, to reimburse themselves with liberal interest for their "contributions" to the expenses of the inaugural committee. The Washington teapot, hardly yet calm again after that disturbance, he throws it into even a greater tempest by declining honorary membership in the Chevy Chase Country club on the ground that public business will absorb his time largely, to the exclusion of "clubbiness." As a consequence the Columbia Country club, also at Chevy Chase, and the Washington Country club, across the river in Virginia, and the Metropolitan, Army and Navy and Cosmos clubs, the principal downtown clubs of Washington, were in a fine frenzy of perplexity as to whether to make the usual proffers of honorary membership.

There is hardly a literary or debating society in the District of Columbia which does not, as a matter of course, elect the president to honorary membership; his down-sitting and his uprisings are beset by formal "honors" of one kind or another; every organization of any consequence in its own eyes, from Key West to Cape Mendocino, sooner or later invites him to address the club or at least invests him with the degree of past exalted pandrum.

Cannot Be Ordinary Person.

For a simple, unostentatious, red blooded man the greatest drawback about the presidency of the United States is the fact that from the moment of his election until his term of office expires, and usually long after that, he cannot be a mere human being, with the rights and immunities of an ordinary citizen. Wherever he goes he must be pursued by armed secret service guards, reporters and photographers. He cannot sit down in a club corner, stretch his legs and express opinions upon affairs of the day like other men—his every chance remark is quoted or misquoted on the street corners almost before he has completed it. His trivial likes and dislikes are known and commented upon; he cannot move hand or foot with the freedom that blesses his fellow men.

Some men like this sort of thing. Within the memory of men still living there have been presidents—one anyway—to whom publicity was the breath of life, who basked in the limelight as in the normal sun of day and took some cial Distinctions.

pains to keep it turned on when other men slept; who counted that day lost whose low descending sun failed to find them upon the front pages of the evening papers and the early "bulldog" editions.

Job Is Weary One.

But to the average man, after the novelty wears off, the position of "first citizen of Washington," must get to be a weary business. And if he has come to the White House with any notion that he brings with him rights of privacy, tastes or personal opinions of his own or any of the other attributes that make life bearable for John Doe and Richard Roe, he soon finds his mistake. The curse falls likewise upon his family. The remarks attributed to Mrs. Wilson to the effect that a president's wife could dress on $1,000 a year, set all the Washington dinner tables a-buzzing.

Even the dressmaking of the president's wife and daughters is a public affair, and these alleged remarks—whether Mrs. Wilson really made them or not—will cause the gowns of the Wilson family to bear an inspection of microscopic intensity.

So, when you come to the question of club membership, it is in the same atmosphere. Mr. Wilson cannot choose the club—if any—to which he desires to belong and apply for membership like any other man; he must take it as a gift and in some sense an obligation or not at all, and this episode has shown that if he desires it not at all, it is taken more or less as an offense.

Mr. Wilson Knows Dangers.

There is a serious side to the question, and the consideration of it justifies the suspicion that Mr. Wilson has instinctively sensed, or had some pretty subtle information about the real situation in Washington, and the difficulty a president has at best in keeping himself free of embarrassing entanglements. A very plausible argument might be made against the president's accepting membership in any local organization in Washington.

One of the hard things about being president is that he can have few intimacies. For one thing, to be the intimate of the president, if the game is to be played "on the level," is to have the door of advancement shut upon you absolutely. Membership in a "tennis cabinet" has been at times in the past a peculiar qualification for promotion.

Before a new president has reached the third week of his incumbency he suspects the "how-dye-do" of every man who greets him in the street; from morning until night almost every person who comes near comes with a demand.

TO FOUND IN COSTA RICA

To establish a real Utopia in Central America for the future homes of many Englishmen and their families. Walter T. Knight, a lawyer of Baccup, Lancashire, recently sailed for Port Limon. This is the second trip that Mr. Knight has made to Costa Rica. Ten months ago, as the representative of the Simplificists' Society of England, an organization with a membership of 800, he went down to seek an ideal location for the colony.

"We have purchased sufficient land to accommodate 250 families," said Mr. Knight. "I am going back to make preliminary arrangements, and in June the advance guard of colonists, including carpenters, mechanics, doctors and others, will arrive. By Christmas we hope that 150 families will be settled."

Mr. Knight explained that while the new colony would be founded on the teachings of Dr. Theodore Hertzka of Vienna and that the doctor's ideas had been adopted by the Simplificists in

The last surviving pupil of the great Chopin gave a concert recently in Paris to save his poor belongings from the sheriff. His name is Dr. Peru, and he is eighty-three years old. Sixty-five years ago he was one of the favorite pupils of the great composer.

The poor old man played fourteen pieces by Chopin as the master had taught them to him, and the audience was surprised and delighted with his beautiful performance. Eighty-three years old and his fingers as nimble as those of a girl of twenty.

their book of regulations, the colony would be limited to Englishmen.

Co-operation Is Plan.

"The main idea is co-operation, with the protection of individual rights and liberty," Mr. Knight continued. "There will be no individual ownership of land. Farmers and workmen will own the product of their labor and will buy and sell among themselves in the currency of Costa Rica."

"Women may work for their living if they want to, and will thus be saved the necessity of marrying for a home and support. Cooking and house-keeping will be done by the community. All work places will be apart from the home section."

"Control of the colony will be divided into twelve departments. Education will rank first, and its object will be to instill respect for the rights of others. Interest charging will be illegal. No monopolies or combinations will be allowed. There will be no employers and no proprietors and no chance for idler's profit."

FRAU KRUPP AIDS ARMY.

Owner of Armament Works to Pay $1,800,000 to Military Fund.

The Lokal Anzeiger of Berlin printed recently a forecast which other newspapers regarded as based on official information of the extent of the levy on fortunes which is to go toward paying for the $250,000,000 increase of the army. According to this, the levy will be at rates ranging from $1 in $400 on fortunes between $5,000 and $50,000 to $1 in $25 on fortunes of $20,000,000 and over.

Frau Bertha Krupp, the owner of the vast armament and shipbuilding works at Essen and Kiel, will be required on this scale to contribute $1,800,000 as her share, as her fortune is about $45,000,000.

TELEPHONE NUMBER, 1111.

A Local Menace.

It is a well recognized fact among local physicians and others who have given any consideration whatever to local health conditions that tuberculosis is far too common in this community. During the Men and Religion Forward Movement campaign here last year, the first comment that Dr. H. G. Hill, a social service worker, made was that the white plague had been much too prevalent in the city and county.

Rushville and Rush county people should be awake to the true status of the situation. During 1912 there were thirty deaths from tuberculosis in Rush county, thirteen of which were in Rushville. This terrible disease caused one ninth of the total number of fatalities in the county last year.

Tuberculosis is a preventable disease. So much the more so, then, should Rushville and Rush county people be ashamed of the record last year. Something should be done to abate the scourge and reduce the fatalities from this scourge. The best method of prevention is right living, doctors tell us.

That Rushville and Rush county people, in a measure, have been aroused to the realization of the commonness of this malady—that can be prevented is evidenced by the organization recently of the Rush county Society for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. There is a wonderful opportunity for these two organizations in this community, and it should be the prayer of all people that both of them work with telling effect, and for the common good of all of us. They can do, with the aid of the people, that which they desire.

W. H. Wylie, chairman of the health committee of the Social Service and Civic Improvement association, who contributed an article last week to the Daily Republican on this subject, strikes a note of warning: "But it is a certainty that something should be done to arouse the community to a more serious consideration of this terrible scourge."

As Dr. Wylie states, according to physicians, we are assured that tuberculosis is a contagious or infectious disease that is preventable, and that to a great extent it is curable. It is communicated by the sputum of tuberculosis sufferers. "If this source of infection can be prevented," he continues, "the physicians tell us the disease can be stamped out. If these statements are true, it follows that these persons who died from this cause, and those who now suffer, are victims of carelessness or ignorance of somebody."

Certainly to the carelessness, if not the ignorance, of somebody. In this enlightened age, there should be few persons who do not know how the tuberculosis is thrown off and how it is transmitted. Much of the infectiousness of the disease lies in the fact that the tubercular germs have greater vitality than any known germ, and may be bandied out by the wind into many throats, and still live.

"Why, indeed, should a tuberculosis sufferer be permitted to go at large any more than a smallpox sufferer?" asks Dr. Wylie. Why indeed? How many deaths in Rush county in recent years can be laid to the door of smallpox? None. And there were thirty, one ninth of the total, from tuberculosis in one small year. And yet the law provides the strictest of quarantines in cases of smallpox. But no restraint is thrown about tuberculosis patients.

Truly, this is a question worthy the consideration of all people.

The recent session of the legislature cost the state between $155,000 and $160,000, according to an estimate made by Myron D. King, deputy auditor of state, through whose hands all of the vouchers must pass. The legislature appropriated $120,000 at the beginning of the session for the expenses of the session, and provided in the appropriation bill that any excess should be paid out of the general fund. This sum has been exhausted, and a large number of bills are still to be paid. A few members of the legislature have not yet drawn all of their salary, and there is a printing bill of about $30,000 yet to be paid. The exact amount of the printing bill is not yet known, but it is said that it will be by far the largest printing bill ever incurred by any general assembly of Indiana.

In speaking of the work of the last legislature The Scottsburg Journal Democrat has the following editorial this week, talking straight from the shoulder:

"Rotten," said Hon. Mark Storen, in commenting on the passage of the Gary saloon bill. He might have gone further and said truthfully that there was "rottenness" all through the session. Representative Ault, in voting on the garnishee bill, said: "I have voted no three times on this bill. But I do not want to see this House filled with Democrats in two years. I do not want a howling unwieldy mob, and I will therefore vote aye on this bill." That expresses the sentiment of many honest, conscientious members of the House and the predictions are frequent among Democrats that this legislature had in it too many men who, as legislators, were a joke.

It is a significant fact that the Progressive members of the Indiana legislature stood squarely on the party platform on every question that came before the legislature which was advocated in the party platform in the last campaign. Not only this, but they proved their sincerity in their advocacy of progressive legislation by working with the other parties whenever bills were being considered to make needed reforms possible—Newcastle Star.

The Star means, we presume, that the bill to legalize 169 saloons in Gary, introduced by Senator Gavit, one of the two Bull Moosers in the upper house, was a Bull Moose platform measure.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

A POOR EXCUSE.

(Connersville News.)

The alleged reason given by Congressman Gray and other representatives for the failure of the late Democratic Indiana legislature to pass a primary law and other measures promised in the Democratic platform, if they are properly quoted, is the silliest of rot. To say that the failure was due to Joe Kealing and other bi-partisans working with Taggart is to say that the overwhelming majority was weak if not absolutely dishonest. There were not enough Republicans in either house to be hardly worth counting so the influence of the Kealings, if their assertion is at all consistent, would necessarily have to be brought direct on Democrats. But Mr. Gray and his associate kickers should sing low until they can explain to the people how they came to vote away millions of dollars of public money for insignificant southern towns in order to get a full share of a rake-off for their own respective districts.

The Palace offers a Keystone film for the first picture tonight showing two comedies entitled "A Midnight Elopement" and "A Family Mix-up." The other is a drama "The Wonders of Surgery." Clarence Eward will sing "Meet Me Where the Love Star Gleams."

Julian Eltinge, the most popular female impersonator on the American stage, will be the attraction at English's Opera House, Indianapolis, for three days beginning Monday, March 17, and a matinee on Wednesday, present the comedy, "The Fascinating Widow."

In order to overcome parental objections and be near the girl he loves, Hal Blake (Eltinge) disguises himself as "The Fascinating Widow," and the comedy situations that follow his donning of wig and gown make the play one of the best of its kind.

The present tour is Eltinge's farewell appearance in "The Fascinating Widow." Next season, according to the announcement made, he will appear in another comedy.

SMALL DAMAGE.

Fire, starting from a water heater in the basement at the home of Jesse Pugh in West Seventh street, did small damage Saturday night. The flame under the heater ignited some carpet and the department was forced to throw water on the blaze. The greatest damage was from water.

An employer of Hindoo laborers in the west says that they excel all other foreign nationalities in learning to speak the English language.

Bernice Encampment will confer the Royal Purple degree on six candidates Friday night. The work will be followed by a pig roast.

Lettie C. Myers has filed suit on a contract against William Foster, demanding $200.

STEIN-BLOCH
Smart Clothes

There's no hesitation in the greeting of a well dressed man

Keeping up in dress is mighty important now-a-days—a new suit sometimes accomplishes the fact for only a short time.

Clothes must have the quality of maintaining their good looks—if we knew where to get clothes that have more of that characteristic, than those made by H. S. & M. or Stein-Bloch, we would get them—but we have never found them.

H. S. & M. or Stein-Bloch Smart Clothes have that individuality of style and the superior tailoring that mean continued satisfaction—it is what the well dressed man must look for.

Look at the new Spring and Summer suits. Why not today?

CHAPTER V.

The Red Cloak.

"What results? Speak up, Sweetwater."

"None. Every man, woman and boy connected with the hotel has been questioned, but not one of them picked up anything from the floor of the lobby, or knows of any one who did."

A bulletin was put up. Some hours later, Sweetwater re-entered the room, and, approaching Mr. Gryce with a smile, blurted out: "The bulletin is a great go. I've watched every one who stopped to read it. Many showed interest and many emotion; she seems to have a troop of friends. But embarrassment! only one showed that."

"Embarrassment? Humph! a man?"

"No, a woman; a lady, sir; one of the transients."

"A woman! Where is she? Still in the lobby?"

"No, sir. She took the elevator while I was talking with the clerk."

"You mistook her expression."

"I don't think so. I had noticed her when she first came into the lobby."

She was talking to her daughter who was with her, and looked natural and happy. But no sooner had she seen and read that bulletin, than the blood shot up into her face and her manner became furtive and hasty. Almost before I could point her out, she had hurried her towards the elevator. Her room is on the seventh floor, number 712, and her name is Watkins. Mrs. Horace Watkins of Nashville."

"Call the desk. Say that I'm to be told if Mrs. Watkins of Nashville rings up during the next ten minutes. We'll give her that long to take some action."

Sweetwater did as he was bid, then went back to his place in the lobby.

But he returned almost instantly.

"Mrs. Watkins has just telephoned down that she is going to leave, sir."

"To leave?"

The old man struggled to his feet.

"No. 712, do you say? Seven stories," he sighed. But as he turned with a hobble, he stopped. "There are difficulties in the way of this interview," he remarked. "A blush is not much to go upon. I'm afraid we shall have to resort to the shadow business and that is your work, not mine."

But here the door opened and a boy brought in a line which had been left at the desk. It related to the very matter then engaging them, and ran thus:—

"I see that information is desired as to whether any person was seen to stoop to the lobby floor last night at or shortly after the critical moment of Miss Challoner's fall in the half-story above. I can give such information. I was in the lobby at the time, and in the height of the confusion following this alarming incident, I remember seeing a lady—one of the new arrivals (there were several coming in at the time)—stoop quickly down and pick up something from the floor. I thought nothing of it at the time, and so paid little attention to her appearance. I can only recall

FRAIL, SICKLY CHILD

Restored to Health By Vinol—A Letter to Mothers.

Anxious mothers often wonder why their children are so pale, thin and nervous and have so little appetite. For the benefit of such mothers in this vicinity we publish the following letter.

J. Edmund Miller, New Haven, Conn., says: "My little daughter ever since her birth had been frail and sickly, and was a constant source of worry. Several months ago we commenced to give her Vinol. I immediately noted an improvement in her health and appearance, and from the good it has done her I can truly say it will do all you claim."

This child's recovery was due to the combined action of the medicinal elements extracted from cod's livers, combined with the blood making and strength creating properties of tonic iron, which are contained in Vinol.

Vinol will build up and strengthen delicate children, old people, and the weak, run-down and debilitated. We return the money in every case where it fails. F. B. Johnson and Company, druggists, Rushville, Indiana.

INVESTIGATING A POLICE "FRAME"

Suspicion That Man Was Railroaded to Chair.

REPRIEVED AT LAST HOUR

John Mulraney, Convicted of Murdering a New York Saloon Keeper and Doomed to Go to the Chair This Morning, Has Been Given a Respite
in Order That the Story of a Police
"Frame" May Be Investigated.

New York, March 17.—A sixty-day
reprieve has been granted by Gov.
Sulzer to John Mulraney, who was to have been electrocuted at Sing Sing
this morning for the murder of "Paddy
the Priest," a saloon keeper at Tenth avenue and Forty-second street, on the night of Oct. 3, 1911. "The reprieve is granted for the purpose of investigating the condemned man's story that he was "framed by the police."

Mulraney, known in the Hell's Kitchen district as "Happy Jack," interested several persons in his case after he was placed in a death cell at Sing Sing. Among these were Father Cash-in, the priest who devotes much of his time to the consolation of condemned men, and W. A. McCabe, the confidential agent of the superintendent of prisons. The facts of record are that Mulraney was convicted and sentenced to death after it had been shown in court that he subscribed in the West Twenty-fifth street station to a confession made by a friend of his named Dowling, that they had killed "Paddy
the Priest."

Mulraney's story, which is now to be investigated by Governor Sulzer, is very different. Admitting that he had been a burglar, a drunkard and a morphine user, Mulraney insisted that he was innocent of the murder of the saloon keeper. He said that on the night of the murder he was helpless from drink in his mother's flat, far away from "Paddy the Priest's" place.
He had been that evening with a chance acquaintance named Dowling.
The next day he left the city and tried to get work in Massachusetts. Falling, he returned to New York and was arrested for the murder of the saloon keeper.

Mulraney said that after Inspector Hughes (then head of the detective bureau) had forced a confession from Dowling, that Hughes attempted to make him confess, but that he refused.
Then, he said, he was taken to the West Twenty-fifth street station, where a detective gave him whisky
and morphine and got him in so muddled a condition that he signed some sort of a paper, not knowing exactly what it contained.

Three witnesses have told the district attorney that Mulraney was unconscious from liquor in his mother's home at the time the saloon keeper was murdered. Other witnesses will appear before the governor in Mulraney's behalf.

An outcome of the governor's investigation of the Mulraney case may be an inquiry by the district attorney's office of the conduct of policemen who investigated the murder of the saloon keeper. District Attorney Whitman is examining the record of Mulraney's trial and questioning witnesses as to the actions of the police officers involved.

FOUL PLAY IS SUSPECTED

Sudden Death of American Girl on Liner Subject of Inquiry.

New York, March 17.—Henry H.
Schmitz, father of Frances Leslie, a dancer, who under the name of Anna
Wilson was found dead as the White Star liner Oceanic arrived at Plymouth, England, has telegraphed to Secretary of State Bryan asking him to intercede with the British authorities to prevent the body from being embarked or handled by an undertaker until after a thorough autopsy and proper chemical analysis.

"We will wait until there is an autopsy," he said. "If it shows death by foul play we will have something more to say."

It is said that before the ship landed at Southampton there was a general suspicion aboard the ship that the death of the young woman was due to poison and that the authorities entertain this same theory at the present time. While that is the case, the passengers do not incline to the murder theory, but believe, if poison was taken, it was taken as a remedy for a trouble from which the young woman repeatedly said during the voyage, she suffered.

Shoots at American Flag.

Seymour, Ind., March 17.—Shooting holes in the American flag was the specific charge placed against Raymond Vick in the Jackson circuit court and a fine of $25 and costs was the exact punishment meted out by the judge. Vick is a telegraph operator employed by the B. & O. Southwestern railway, and his troubles began when he shot six holes in an American flag that was floating above a schoolhouse.

Religious Jubilee Proclaimed.

Rome, March 17.—The pope today published a brief commemorating the sixteenth centenary of Emperor Con-stantine's religious toleration edict.
He proclaimed a partial jubilee extending from March 31 to Sept. 8.

MRS. HARRIMAN

Whose Estate Is Appraised
For Taxation at $70,000,000.

FINAL APPRAISAL OF HARRIMAN'S HOLDINGS

In Round Numbers It Figures
Out $70,000,000.

Albany, N. Y., March 17.—Today
State Comptroller Sohmer is expected to make public the official appraisal of the estate of Edward H. Harriman, who died on Sept. 9, 1909, and upon which the transfer tax appraiser for Orange county has been working for two years.

The estate in round numbers is appraised at $70,000,000, $1,000,000 less than the amount at which it was estimated when the Harriman estate paid the preliminary tax of $675,000 to the state comptroller on March 5, 1910.
Mr. Harriman left his entire estate to his widow, and under the decedent's estate tax law in effect at the time of his death, the entire estate is taxed at 1 per cent.

One of the most interesting features disclosed by the appraisal is that Mr.
Harriman held no bonds of either the Union Pacific or the Southern Pacific roads, since the ownership of the bonds was of no value in the control of the roads. He owned only 1,000 shares of Southern Pacific common stock, worth $124,000 at his death. His holdings of Union Pacific stock consisted of 51,900 shares of preferred, appraised at $5,371,650, and 55,000 shares of common, valued at $10,725,- 000.

At his death Mr. Harriman had cash balances of $1,432,242.

Adrianople Fiercely Bombarded.
Sofia, March 17.—Adrianople has been fiercely bombarded for three days. The guns of the northern fort of Arnautkeui have been silenced.

TERSE TELEGRAMS

Secretary of State Bryan has gone to Nebraska on a ten days' trip.

Eight members of the naval committee of congress have gone to Panama.

Lieutenant Commander Charles Lowe Greenleaf, U. S. N., retired, is dead of heart trouble at his home in Chelmsford Center, Mass., aged seventy-five.

President Wilson's close friends believe firmly that Bryan is looking ahead to become a candidate in 1916, and at the proper time will seek to hold Wilson to the one term pledge of the Baltimore platform.

W. P. Mize, twenty-four years old, a telegraph operator for the Atlantic Coast line, shot and killed Miss Annie Hall, a college girl, at Macon, Ga., and then shot and killed himself because she refused to marry him.

It is said that many concerns now chartered in New Jersey are meditating a jump to Delaware because its laws as to what a corporation may or may not do are held to be more definite than those of New Jersey.

It is said that Porfirio Diaz, former president of Mexico, would like to spend the remaining years of his life in his fatherland, and as soon as the process of pacification is complete he will make his home in Mexico City.

Repeal of that part of the Panama canal act which grants free passage through the canal to American vessels engaged in the coastwise trade is urged by the trustees of the Carnegie endowment for international peace.

Diamonds and jewelry valued at perhaps $300,000 were stolen from the vault of Martin Simons & Sons, New York pawnbrokers, by thieves who tunnelled under a cellar wall and got into the vault by making a hole through two feet of brick.

With the arrival at New York of Senora Mara Madero, widow of the slain president of Mexico, steps have been taken by her representatives to secure payment from local insurance companies of large policies on the life of her husband.

Relief for Bowel Trouble

Here is a laxative—not a purgative—but a pleasant, easy-to-take tablet that tastes just like candy, that children like, that is ideal for invalids and aged persons. We guarantee it not to cost you a penny if it does not satisfy you. Don't doubt or hesitate—make us prove it.

Consult Your Doctor

We believe your doctor will tell you that about 95 per cent of all human ills are indirectly caused by unclean and constipated bowels. You know the first question the doctor asks when you consult him is, "Are your bowels regular?"

When your bowels are not naturally exercised such as they would be if you took a good brisk walk of six or seven miles a day out in the open, they require artificial exercise and a corrective tonic that will soothe and strengthen while regulating the bowels to natural action.

Free If It Fails

We have so much faith in Rexall Orderlies as the safest, most dependable, easiest-to-take, quietest acting and most thoroughly good remedy for bowel trouble, that we offer them with our positive guarantee that if they do not satisfy for any reason whatever, we will hand back the money you paid for them.

Don't doubt or hesitate. Make us prove our claims. Come and get a box of Rexall Orderlies today.

CAUTION: Please bear in mind that Rexall Orderlies are not sold by all druggists. You can buy Rexall Orderlies only at The Rexall Stores.

OLIVER

THE JAMES OLIVER NO. 11 SULKY PLOW is the best sulky plow you can buy. The plow and driver are carried along not dragged. The one best plow for any soil, any time and under any condition. The No. 11 will do more work and better work with less exertion, than any other sulky, because it is so light in weight, simple in construction, easy draft and less breakage. Once tried, always satisfactory.

THE OLIVER NO. 1 GANG PLOW is the plow [for service

MERIT SYSTEM
PLAN NOT CLEAR

But Wilson Administration Purposes
to Take Postoffice Department
Out of Politics.

DRAWS FORTH NO PROTESTS

Good Many of Presidential Postmasters May Be Kept in Office.

Even the announcement by Postmaster-General Burleson that it is the purpose of the administration to attempt to take the postoffice department absolutely out of politics has not, up to this time, brought forth a single protest from a Democratic statesman, Washington dispatches say. In the old days a mere suggestion that all postmasters would be brought within the classified service would have brought forth a chorus of protests from the statesmen and politicians.

Whether a plan for applying the merit system to presidential postmasters can be worked out is not yet clear to the postmaster-general. It is now well understood that President Wilson wishes the thing done if it is possible. Of course, there is no thought on the part of the administration of retaining all of the eight thousand Republican postmasters
now in office, though it will be no surprise if a good many of these men are kept. The thought that is in the mind of the postmaster-general, is that a plan may possibly be worked out whereby applicants for presidential postmasterships will be required to pass a civil service examination and that before this administration goes out the merit system may be in force as to all presidential postmasters.

One senator suggested today that the patronage outlook was not quite as bad as it seemed to be at first glance. He pointed out that after the special session of the congress comes on a large number of appointments will be made.

All the diplomatic places will be filled during the spring and summer months, and, as a rule, filled by the appointment of Democrats. The terms of Republican collectors of customs, internal revenue collectors and United States marshals will be expiring, and it is the intention of the administration to put Democrats in these places. The one thing the administration will not do is to oust Republicans before the expiration of their terms in order to make places for Democrats.

Neither will the President permit any overthrow of the merit system as it is applied to any branch of the government service. Another rule that has been laid down and will be adhered to religiously is that a person will not be appointed to public office simply because he has been recommended by a Democratic senator or representative. Before the appointment is made the President will satisfy himself that the person under consideration is a fit man for the job.

WINK CASES SET FOR TRIAL

Knightstown Druggist Will Answer
Liquor Law Violation.

Judge Jackson today set March 24
as the time to try Vernon Wink, of Knightstown, on the charge of violating the liquor laws, says the Newcastle Times. There are eight such cases against Wink, but he will likely be tried on the charge of selling liquor on Sunday.

Wink was arrested some time ago
on affidavits filed direct in the circuit court. An Indianapolis detective secured the evidence against Wink, who is a Knightstown druggist.

Kline placed on file a forged warthat had been drawn up at the real
